THREE GRIFFIN BROTHERS IN THE CIVIL WAR

by Carolyn L. Griffin

The Civil War touched the lives of all Americans who lived in the 1860s. Most young men lived on farms during that time period, yet they chose to volunteer for military service in the Union or Confederate Armies, leaving behind parents, brothers and sisters, and loved ones to fight for their country.

George, Charles and James Griffin of Ovid Township, Branch County, Michigan, served in Michigan and Ohio companies of the Union Army during the Civil War. They were the sons of William N. Griffin who was born 23 July 1801 in England, and his first wife, Lucy Hancock, of Ohio. She was born about 1822. Although her probate court records are dated 14 October 1867, her death date would have been before 1861.

Census records revealed that there were eight children from the marriage of William and Lucy. Sophia was born between 1838 and 1840; George S. was born in 1841; Charles S. was born 8 February 1842; Julia Ann Ostentia was born in 1843; James H. was born in 1846; Lovisa was born in February of 1848; Rhoby C. was born in 1849; and William R. was born 24 September 1853. They must have moved to Michigan from Ohio between 1848 and 1849 because all of the children except the last two were born in Ohio; Rhoby and William R. were born in Michigan.

After Lucy's death, William married Mary Ann Hyzer on 8 July 1861 in Branch County, Michigan. She was born in 1842. From this marriage there were seven children: Emma Jane born in 1862, Elmer Ellsworth born in 1865, Frederick Alphonso born August 1869, Franklin A. born 26 September 1874, Leonard P. born 28 December 1878, Nellie born 15 August 1881, and George H. born 11 May 1882. William N. Griffin died 14 December 1884 in Ovid Township, Branch County, Michigan.

The three eldest Griffin sons all volunteered for military service. George S., 21, and James H., who gave his age as 18 but was only 15, enlisted on 24 August 1861 in Coldwater, Michigan, for a three-year period, and were privates in Captain Hackstaff's Company, 11th Regiment, Michigan Infantry. George was captured at the Battle of Chickamauga, Georgia, on 20 September 1863, and was confined at Richmond and Danville, Virginia. Subsequently he was transferred to Andersonville, Georgia, which was the worst Confederate prison camp in the South. He contracted scurvy and was admitted to the Andersonville hospital on 26 July 1864, where he died two days later. George was buried in Grave #4092 at Andersonville. His parents, unable to obtain information about him, sent a letter on 5 December 1864 from Coldwater, Michigan. It read: "I write at the request of William Griffin of Coldwater, Michigan, to see if you can give him any information in regard to his son George F. Griffin, Co. H., 11th Mich. Infty, Vols. who he hears died in Prison at Andersonville, Ga., time not known. If this information cannot be given by you will you please hand this to the proper officer whose business it is to answer such inquiries." There is no record whether they received a reply, but their son's body remains in Georgia until the present time.

James H. Griffin died on 28 January 1862 of measles at Bardstown, Kentucky, and was buried in the National Cemetery in Bardstown. He had died only five months after enlistment, and there is no record of his military service except his death.

The second eldest son, Charles (S.) or (E.) or (F.), enlisted 15 September 1862 for three years at Trumbull, Ohio, with Company G, 29th Regiment, Ohio Infantry, listing himself as a farmer. Enlistment papers reveal not only his birthplace of Florence Township, Erie County, Ohio, but the following description: 19 years old, 5 foot 10 inches tall, light complexion, gray eyes and brown hair. He worked as a nurse in a hospital in Frederick and was later assigned as a baker in Aquia Landing, Virginia, on 7 May 1863. He was hospitalized in Bridgeport, Alabama, on 25 February 1864, and was mustered out at Louisville, Kentucky, on 13 July 1865.

Charles Griffin's pension records state that he contracted scurvy in 1864 because of "poor food and the want of fruits and vegetables." He continued to suffer from this when he filed for an invalid pension on 5 February 1887. He was then 43 years old and living in Branch County, Michigan. Charles Griffin died 24 September 1907 aged 64 years, 7 months, and 14 days. His obituary states that "he resided in Ovid Township until shortly before the breaking out of the war, when he returned to his old home in Ohio where he was united in marriage to Miss Elizabeth Morrison. At the commencement of the hostilities he was one of the first to enlist, casting his lot with the 29th Ohio Volunteers and serving with them until the close of the war." (Courier, Branch County, Michigan, 25 September 1907)

His first marriage to Elizabeth Morrison had ended in divorce in March 1871 but a daughter, Ella E., had been born to them on 4 August 1866. On 25 June 1871 Charles married Minerva E. Hillier Turrell.

The three Griffin brothers chose to enlist in the Union Army. They left behind their father, stepmother, a younger brother, William R., and several sisters. Of the three brothers, only Charles returned to the farm in Ovid Township. Tribute to the brave men who fought and died continued in 1865 when my husband's grandfather was named Elmer Ellsworth Griffin for the soldier Elmer Ellsworth, who exemplified the volunteer militiaman, and who was the war's first victim. He was shot tearing down a secessionist flag the day the Union troops entered Virginia. The Griffin family, as did the nation, grieved and healed as the years passed.

AUTOGRAPHS COLLECTED BY FRANK AND EMMA HAGEN, 1884-1907

Contributed by Elsa Lillian Macaulay, Bronson, Michigan

The autograph books of Emma and Frank Hagen were among the papers of their niece, Cora L. Haas, daughter of Fred and Mary (Hagen) Haas, but are now in the possession of her niece, the contributor.

Frank Hagen (1860-1936) and his sister, Emma Lavina Hagen (1863-1947), both resided all their lives on what had been the main farm of their father, John Hagen, and is now, in 1988, the Leslie Park and Golf Course, on the northeast side of Ann Arbor, Michigan. Frank eventually took over the farm and Emma became his paid housekeeper. According to Pastor Frederick Schmid's records, Frank was baptized as Jno. (Johann?) G. (Gerhardt?) Franklin Hagen. The Hagen family joined the Zion Lutheran Church in Ann Arbor when it was organized in 1871.

Frank and Emma were likely both born in the first Hagen home which stood in the west half of the southwest quarter of Section 15, Ann Arbor Township, an eighty purchased in 1847. This first farm was east of the railroad tracks which later, during the mid 1890s, were extended up Traver Creek. By 1885 these Hagens were residing at what, in 1988, is 2260 Traver Road in the far northeast corner of the east half, southeast quarter of Section 16. When John Hagen purchased this eighty acre parcel on 23 November 1853, it was still government land. A barn built on this property in 1906 still stands on the golf course. The first house built by John Hagen was on this land and burned about 1909. The new house, built in 1910, is still standing. During 1888 the Hagens also acquired a town house at 818 W. Liberty, Ann Arbor.

John (Johann) Hagen (1819-1897) was married to Anna Katherine Feldkamp (1829-1870). Both were from Schale, Westphalia, and in 1844 had sailed on the same voyage for the United States, Kate traveling with her parents and four siblings. John and Kate had eight children, five of whom grew to maturity: Mary Haas, Jacob, Frank, Emma, and Lewis. Later John married Johanna Domke (1844-1929). Five of their six children lived to adulthood: Lydia Lutz, Ottilia Hutzel, Fred who died at the age of twenty-one, Anna Osgood, and Herman. In time the second Hagen family moved into town.

Locations in the record below are all in Michigan, unless noted.

A REVIEW OF THE SCHALE (WESTFALEN) NEWSLETTER

BHy Rosalyn Breitenwischer

Included in the mass German migration to the U.S. during the mid-1800s were families of Schale in the province of Westphalia. Coming from this rural area located near the Holland border and thus bearing some Dutch influence, these people embraced agriculture for a livelihood and the Protestant Reformed Church for spiritual edification. Once in America, they settled in colonies mainly in Washtenaw County, Michigan: Bensonville and Barrington, Illinois; Oak Creek, Wisconsin; Eitzen, Minnesota; and Vesper, Kansas.

David Koss, Ph.D., a member of the Genealogical Society of Washtenaw County and nationally recognized authority in genealogy, has been caught in the intrigue of these immigrants, their ancestors back in Schale, and their descendants in the U.S. Dr. Koss, Professor of Religion and History at Illinois College, himself a descendant, has explored the common roots and lifestyle which these separate colonies exhibited. Out of his love for this subject has evolved the Schale (Westfalen) Newsletter, a quarterly publication devoted to genealogical correspondence among Schale family descendants.

Content includes reports on travel to Schale-related sites of interest, book reviews, newspaper abstracts, short biographies, cemetery readings, passenger lists, and surname research. Subscriptions are $4.00 per year for the 8 1/2" x 11" newsletter which last year numbered 35 pages. Copies of some earlier issues, dating back to volume 1, number 1 (January 1984), are also available. For further information, contact the editor, Dr. David Koss, either at Illinois College, Jacksonville, Illinois 62650 or 114 Dundee Avenue, Barrington, Illinois 60010.

SOCIETY MEETINGS 1987-1988

By Mary Liskow

At the April 26th 1987 meeting Doris Milliman, Ypsilanti City Historian, spoke on "The Resources and Historical Information Available at the Ypsilanti Historical Museum." Several new sources of information on Washtenaw County were revealed. Classtime was devoted to learning from Donald Callard, Reference Librarian at The University of Michigan Harlan Hatcher Graduate Library, how to use the University Graduate Library.

May 17, 1987 was our annual meeting with election of officers and a panel of librarians who explained the "Use of the Latter-Day Saints Branch Library in Ann Arbor." Carolyn Griffin, English instructor at the Ypsilanti High School and a GSWC Board member, told the class about "Sharing Your Genealogical Finds."

In June the annual picnic was held again at the home of Charles and Thada Liskow. The 28th was a day in which many members shared their experiences in tracing some of their personal family histories.

York Township was the setting for the York Cemetery reading on July 12, 1987 where thirteen persons turned out on a beautiful day to "read" the cemetery markers for our cemetery committee.

There was no meeting in August and in September David C. Werly, instructor at the University of Toledo, Division of Continuing Education, took us on a trip which he called "A Genealogical Field Trip." The trip encompassed areas of search from the Federal and local areas to courts, libraries and church records. The class, with Carolyn Griffin, discussed "Where Do You Go Next?"

October 23-24, 1987 was a seminar with Donna Reid Hotaling at the Holiday Inn West. "Researching in Ireland and Scotland" was her topic with a pre-main event, held on the 23rd at the Zion Lutheran Church in Ann Arbor. Her topic that evening was "Bridging the Gap - Do Your Homework Before Crossing the Water."

The day following the seminar October 25, 1987, Patricia F. Gee, English instructor in Dearborn, talked about "Solving Genealogical Problems." This was a reminder to think in terms of the time in which you are researching. What would the records have been? In class Carolyn Griffin spoke on "Using Marriage Records for Genealogical Research."

On December 6, 1987 we shared family traditions and dishes of ethnic foods. At this meeting we also honored, with Sesquicentennial presentations from the Michigan Genealogical Council, nine members who had been prime contributors in furthering our society or genealogical research. Those receiving certificates were: Carl and Lillian B. Brown of Milan; Donald Callard, Lydia Muncy and Ralph Muncy of Ann Arbor; Thelma Larson and Doris Milliman of Ypsilanti. On later occasions Marguerite Lambert and Robert H. Schapler, both of Ann Arbor, received recognitions.

The new year started with a meeting on January 24, 1988 at which Allan Treppa, instructor in History and Social Science, at the Franklin High School, Livonia, spoke about "Pitfalls in Research." He stressed the importance of checking the primary records before you become too involved with your search. Nancy Krohn, GSWC Board member, Editor of Capers, spoke in class about "Use of Land Records in Genealogical Research."

February 28, 1988, Carolyn Griffin gave an illustrated talk concerning "Military Records: Where to Find and How to Use Them." This was followed by Kathie Horning, GSWC Membership Committee Chairperson, starting the first of a series class on "Genealogy for Beginners."

John Kirkendall, Judge of Probate of Washtenaw County, dispelled the "Mystique of Court Records" on March, 27, telling us that all the records were open to the public. The class for beginners continued.

April 24, 1988 Robert H. Schapler, church archivist, Ann Arbor, recalled the interesting story of Rev. Frederick Schmidt, circuit rider for the Lutheran Church in early Michigan, with his lecture "Lutheran Roots in Michigan." "Genealogy for Beginners" held its third class.

May 20, 1988 was a special meeting on "The World of Genealogy" given by Ronald A. Bremer, Genealogy Digest editor, Salt Lake City. A dynamic and forceful lecture was presented to a large audience with many new visitors.

Following the election of officers at the annual meeting on May 22, 1988, Lucille Couzynes, Chairperson for the Speakers Committee of the Michigan Genealogical Council, gave an illustrated lecture on "Letter Writing and How to Get What You Want." The following class was a panel, with Carolyn Griffin chairing, on "Organizing Information to Share with Others." GSWC members who had published their genealogies, Lephia Oncley, Sharon Brevoort and Bruce Nelson, shared information on how they had gone about preparing their material for publication.
